

Secret Note + Birds:

Today we are merging two families, and to help you get to know each other, we've left a secret note below for each table - the catch is that the note is in a language you may not understand! We encourage you to find someone here who speaks that language (either Gujarati or Telugu) to help you decode your phrase.

The second thing you'll notice is that each table has a bird mascot. This, of course, is not a coincidence, but rather a testament to the meticulous process by which we have discerned the inherent essence of each person here today and matched them to a corresponding feathered spirit. Rest assured, the selection of these feathered ambassadors was undertaken with the utmost seriousness and a complete absence of whimsy.

See below to learn more about the meaning behind the birds assigned to each of your tables, and to see a conversation starter you might find interesting (if you can find someone to translate!)
